

ABSTRACT

A display aid comprising a user interface portion and a handle mounting portion, wherein said handle mounting portion is removably attachable to a handle of a cart by at least partially embracing a portion of the handle.